To whom this may concern,

On 18th to 21st September 2017, students from Cognitio College (Hong Kong) participated the HAVE, U Can Programme organized by Dr. Chan and her team at the University of Hong Kong. I am writing to acknowledge their efforts to deliver this programme as to enhance our students' whole person development, and to help raise their awareness on the importance of holistic competencies. The programme has brought significant impacts on our students' personal and professional growth.

Following the enthusiastic response to the programme in 2017, our students revisited HKU for a post programme gathering on 25th June 2018. Alongside self-evaluation and assessment tasks, over 80 students actively participated in the two hours interactive workshop, which further promotes positive attitudes and virtues.

It is our school mission "to provide whole-person education with balanced emphasis on moral, intellectual, physical, social and aesthetic development, to help our students to achieve their full potential and to instil in them a commitment to serve our country and society." Dr. Chan's work was able to engage the students to reflect and develop their generic skills particularly some of the affective skills such as respect, consideration and resilience. Cognitio College (Hong Kong) hope that our students will continue to practice these positive values in everyday life, constantly contribute to the community, and become not just well rounded residents of Hong Kong, but also a responsible global citizen. We look forward to many more fruitful collaborations with HKU to support students in their development of holistic competencies.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Cheung Lai Man
Principal
